Request for articles

I have been an OSFY reader for the past one year and really appreciate your team's efforts to inform the new possibilities in the open source world. I am currently working on an embedded Linux platform where I need to customise Linux kernels. I have to build kernels for various hardware platforms. The real problem is in building cross-compilers for them. So it will be helpful for developers like me if those topics are covered. Thank you.

ED: Thanks a lot for the feedback. It really makes us feel good to know that you like the articles published in the magazine. We have covered a lot of topics on kernel development in our past issues, and you can find many of them at <http://opensourceforu.com>. We will also be coming up with more articles on kernel development. Keep sending us your views on OSFY!

Useful Makulu Linux DVD

Along with OSFY's April 2015 issue, I got a DVD on Makulu Linux 8.0 'Cinnamon'. I thank you for providing such a useful operating system. It is really fantastic and worked on my system, which has many limitations like not having a hard disk, CD-ROM drive, as well as a display and keyboard that malfunction. I am using a 16GB USB and other plug-in devices for operating the system. To my surprise, Makulu got installed without much of a problem on my USB drive and it rectified many boot problems too.

ED: Thanks a lot for the feedback. It feels great when readers tell us how they benefited from our magazine or the bundled

DVD. We always try our best to bundle Linux distros that can be tried on different hardware specifications. We would suggest that you keep reading the magazine to try out different OSs. Keep sharing your feedback with us; it helps us to improve. END
