Hybrid Messaging

Co-existence with Exchange / Lotus

Study says that 85-90% of users in an organization use a mail server for sending & receiving mails. Only 15% of users make use of additional features like calendaring, tasks, workflow and other strategic uses. To help organization reduce cost and ensure productivity, netCORE has come up with an innovative concept called Hybrid Messaging Environment. Hybrid means mixture/heterogeneous. It's an integration or co-existence of netCORE's Linux Based Mailing Solution (EMS) with existing MS Exchange/Lotus Server.

Benefits

- Low CAPEX & OPEX
- Optimum utilization of costly resources
- Calendar sync, sharing & task scheduling within netCORE's EMS
- Enables full outlook functionality
- No end user changes
- ADS/LDAP synchronization for single address book
