

Google Apps Inventor Develop Android Apps In a Jiffy

Here's introducing Google's new App Inventor service (the beta version) to design graphic applications for the Android platform. The Android in question is 1.5 Cupcake, running on an Openmoko FreeRunner GTA02, though you could use other Android phones, or even an emulator on your PC instead. While it's possible to use other OS platforms on the PC side, this article focuses on a FOSS platform—Ubuntu.