

Impress an Audience with Your Presentation

“Presentation!” The very word often triggers the reaction, “Oh, not another ODP or PPT!” In school or college, we’ve all prepared presentations for projects, assignments, fête sponsorships and to impress companies during placement interviews. While at work, we’ve all sweated over client presentations, project status presentations, etc. Besides PPTs or ODPs, though, there are many other interesting ways to make a presentation, like using Impress.js to create cool presentations.