

“Linux based Web hosting solutions are preferred for their stability and reliability”

Linux based Web hosting solutions are gradually taking the lion's share in the global market. Apart from being economical, they are considered more flexible and scalable compared to their proprietary counterparts. The market share of Linux based Web hosting solutions ranged between 20 to 40 per cent in 2009 but has now increased to about 60 per cent, globally. In the Indian market, Linux based Web hosting solutions seem to rule the roost. According to P Sridhar Reddy, chairman and managing director, CtrlS Datacenters Ltd, Linux solutions make up for about 60-70 per cent of the Indian market. Diksha P Gupta from LINUX For You spoke exclusively to Reddy on this topic. Excerpts:

P Sridhar Reddy,
chairman and managing director,
CtrlS Datacenters Ltd

