

Don't you wish your company announced a Zero-Email Policy?

Get SmartEmail from Mailserve

What's worse than finding 200+ new messages waiting for you in the morning? Having to wade through all of them to get at the 30-odd messages that required action from you!!

For a typical manager, barely 15-20% of all email received require explicit action. The balance comprises messages copied to you for information and pure junk mail. And this keeps pouring in day after day, making email a source of distraction and stress.

The Priority Inbox feature of MailServe has been built to defuse the stress and distraction of email overload. With the Priority Inbox, you get to separate important, actionable messages from the rest, act on these without distractions, and look at the rest whenever convenient - because you know they can wait. And all your email across all devices will also stay in perfect sync - which is why we call it SmartEmail!

SmartEmail from MailServe - reclaim your Inbox, and do more besides!
