Setting up a BPO using open source

I am actually trying to set up a BPO process through an open source platform from scratch. Could I get some assistance from your team in this regard?

Meanwhile, do let us know what specific aspects you need support for—we will try and do our best.

Option to avoid CDs/DVDs

I have been a regular subscriber of the LFY magazine. Whether I want to relax or travel, I love reading the hard copy. But I have an issue that I want to address. I don't always want all the CDs/DVDs given by the LFY magazine. I only need a few (like Ubuntu distros). So is there any option to avoid it? It will really help us to reduce the e-waste.

ED: We appreciate your concern and would like to thank you for sharing it with us! We do post the 'First Look' of the CDs/DVDs that are about to be released, a week or two prior to the magazine hitting the newsstands. So it might be a good idea to join our Facebook page at <http://www.facebook.com/LinuxForYou>. However, although the preview of the DVD and its contents on Facebook may keep you well-informed in advance, we as yet do not have any facility to avoid it for subscribers or purchasers of LFY. But we will keep this in mind and try implementing it in future for sure!

Part 16 of the Device Driver Series was great

I was really happy to read the article, 'Kernel Window, Peeping Through /Proc', the 16th article in LFY's series on device drivers that was carried in its March 2012 issue. This can be used to read and modify the hardware register contents, which is really helpful in debugging drivers!

ED: We are thrilled to know that you found this article useful.

On developing apps on QT, Part 3

I recently read the article 'Developing Apps on QT, Part 3' in the March 2012 issue of LFY and would like to thank you for publishing such a good series on Qt programming.

—Eugene Markow

ED: Thanks! We will convey your compliments to the author, Manoj Kumar.

RHCE training institutes in Delhi/NCR

Saurabh Jha:
Can you please suggest some good RHCE training centres in the Delhi and NCR region?

LINUX For You: Saurabh, there's good news for you! We have published a comprehensive list of training and certification solution providers in India in this issue of LFY, which will be useful to you.
