

Comcast encourages its engineers to not just consume open source but to also contribute to it

Comcast Corporation is an American entertainment conglomerate. The company is committed to open source software and uses it to develop products, attract talent and evolve the technology. Nithya A. Ruff, head, Comcast Open Source Program Office, talks about Comcast's open source journey, new projects, collaborations and much more.

Nithya A. Ruff,
head, Comcast Open Source
Program Office