Enjoy high speed Internet with the Tri-band Wi-Fi system from Netgear

Global networking company, Netgear, has launched a new Wi-Fi system called 'Orbi', which it claims delivers the latest way to experience Wi-Fi using its Tri-band mesh network. The system helps users to enjoy high speed Internet even in the remote corners of a building, including in the attic, by the pool and even in the basement of a home or office.

The strong Wi-Fi coverage provides bandwidth even outside the home or office and across many floors, and the Internet speed stays intact even when more devices are added to the network.

The kit includes two pre-paired devices—a router and a satellite—for an easy out-of-the-box set-up. The system is capable of providing high performance

Wi-Fi coverage up to 371.61 sqm (400 sq ft) with 802.11ac AC 3000 Wi-Fi speed up to 3Gbps. The Tri-band Wi-Fi system comes with a dedicated 5GHz quad stream wireless back haul between the Orbi router and satellite.

The Netgear Orbi Wi-Fi system is available via online stores.
