

However you get there, get there

Because some events are just too important to miss

Cybersecurity threats are recession-proof. Even in challenging times you can devise ways to do more with less to defend your organization against increasingly sophisticated attacks. We will help you achieve this goal at SC World Congress 2009.

You'll develop cost-effective strategies to solve cybersecurity problems while immersing yourself in the latest intelligence and practical tactics delivered by leading independent experts. Experience the newest solutions, free keynotes and a host of other activities.

Incomparable security education across four dedicated tracks

Independent expert speakers with global perspectives

A packed expo floor showcasing the best information security tools

Security Innovators Throwdown – to find the industry's most innovative new companies

Opportunities to network with your peers and earn continuing education credits from (ISC)²
