

YOU SAID IT

Requesting an article on Java in network monitoring

I began reading OSFY a year back, at my college library. And since I found it very fascinating, I stopped reading it at college and became a subscriber from November 2015. In the July 2015 issue (I read the ezine version), there was an article about network monitoring, which was very useful to me. Could I request you to feature network monitoring with Java software agents developed using the Jade technology, which is one of the emerging trends, in OSFY? It would be great to have details about Jade, especially with examples of programming code for creating and deploying multiple agents in a network for monitoring purposes — in order to make a network traffic aggregate summary. Thanks in advance and best wishes to the OSFY team.

— Nishil K R,
nishil032@gmail.com

ED: Thanks a lot for the feedback and appreciation. We cherish our readers' views and with every edition, we try to bring out an improved version of the magazine. It really makes us feel good to know that OSFY was instrumental in enhancing your knowledge on open source technologies. We have circulated the topic requested by you among the pool of our authors. Do keep reading the magazine, as we will be coming up with more exciting topics. Feel free to continue sending us your feedback as that helps us improve.

Requesting an article on WordPress

I am a regular reader of the magazine. I would like to request an article that gives some useful tips on building a website using WordPress. This would help website developers.

— Baratham Prathap Kumar,
prathap.baratham1997@gmail.com

ED: Thanks for your feedback. In the recent past, we have covered a lot on Web development using different content management systems. Even in the January issue of Open Source For You, you can read an article on 'Build a WordPress Web Application Using WAMP'. Still, someone in our pool of authors will probably address your specific request. Feel free to continue sending us your feedback.

How to subscribe to Open Source For You magazine?

I am working at the Tamil Virtual Academy, a government office under the Information Technology Department, Chennai. We want to subscribe to your magazine, so do guide us on how to go about it.

— Kemiladevi,
idayakemiken@gmail.com

ED: Thanks for writing to us and for your interest in subscribing to the magazine. You can visit <http://electronicsforu.com/electronicsforu/subscription/subscheme.asp> to know about the details and offers on subscriptions. You can even drop an email to support@efy.in to get information regarding the different options for subscribing to OSFY.

Contributing to OSFY

I am in the final year of my B. Tech degree. I have been reading Open Source For You since the last four years. The magazine has been very helpful to me and has also influenced me in some way. I would like to know if your magazine would be interested in my idea of publishing an article on server designing in Linux. The article will provide the guidelines for implementing the different servers in Red Hat like DHCP, Apache, Samba and Squid server, apart from more content related to Red Hat.

— Sanjay Nigam,
via facebook.com

ED: Thanks for getting in touch with us. I would suggest that you drop an email to the OSFY editorial team at osfyedit@efy.in. They will assist you with more information on how to contribute to the magazine. END

Share Your FEEDBACK

Please send your comments or suggestions to:

The Editor,
Open Source For You,
D-87/1, Okhla Industrial Area, Phase I,
New Delhi 110020, Phone: 011-26810601/02/03,
Fax: 011-26817563, Email: osfyedit@efy.in