

The Best Open Source Programming Languages for IoT

The Internet of Things is slowly but surely making an impact on how we live. From automated transport systems and self-driven vehicles, to smart homes, smart cities and wearables, the list of IoT applications is large and is growing by the day. The choice of a programming language for IoT applications is, therefore, a vital one for developers and programmers.