Ceiling mounted access point router from Digisol

Digisol Systems, a subsidiary of Smartlink Networks and a leading manufacturer of networking products, has launched a ceiling mounted access point router – the DG-WM2003SIE.

The router complies with IEEE 802.11n standards, and is also backward compatible with IEEE 802.11b/g standards. It offers wireless data transmission rates up to 300Mbps to enhance the video/photo sharing and gaming experience over the wireless network.

The router offers features like:

- WAN/PoE: 1x 10/100Mbps
- 802.3af PoE Port LAN: 1x 10/100Mbps
- Up to 4 SSIDs
- QoS-WMM support
- Multiple operational modes

The device can be configured in gateway mode and supports PoE, leading to easy installation in the absence of a dedicated power source. It enables communication between wireless or wired laptops/desktops or notebooks in the network.

The feature-rich DG-WM2003SIE router comes with a limited lifetime warranty, and is available via online and retail stores.
